Guy Harp Named Postmaster of Canyon

CONGRESSMAN VISITS THREE AT TOP OF LIST

Jones Named Harp as Acting Postmaster Yesterday

EXPLAINS SITUATION

No Opposition to Any of Three Is Found In City

Guy Harp was named as acting postmaster of Canyon yesterday by Congressman Marvin Jones. Mr. Harp was out of town and could not be reached as to the time he will take over the duties of the local office.

Marvin Jones, congressman from this district, was here Saturday to interview the three candidates who had the highest grades as certified to him by the Civil Service Commission, and to interview citizens in the selection of the new postmaster.

"This is a delightful situation," stated Mr. Jones. "Every person whom I have interviewed has expressed a personal choice of the three, but each and every person interviewed say that all three are qualified to make a good postmaster. It is very unusual that the people are willing to accept any of the three with the highest grades."

The three chosen by the Civil Service Commission were Guy Harp, Mrs. Berl Edwards Mayfield, and John A. Guthrie. Mr. Harp had the highest rating.

"Many people are under the Government to Start Sheep and Goat Purchase Program Soon

The federal government announced Monday that a sheep and goat buying program would be started in the near future. $10,000,000 from the drouth relief funds has been set aside for this work.

The buying machine is now being set up, and will be effective in a week or ten days, according to word from Washington. The purchase plan will probably follow the one being used in the cattle campaign.

Between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 sheep and goats will be purchased. $2.00 will be paid for the sheep and $1.40 for the goats.

County Agent W. H. Upchurch states that as soon as he receives the necessary information, he will notify the sheep raisers of the county.

Hill Invites Citizens To Chapel Period on Saturday

HAMLIN TO SPEAK

First Time Many Have Visited Canyon and W. T.

Anticipating a far greater representation than usual, W. T. next Friday and Saturday, August 10 and 11, will be host to the Regents of the State Teachers Colleges meeting here for the first time in two years.

This meeting, one of the four held each year, is for the purpose of inspecting the work of the teachers colleges and formulating plans for their operation throughout the coming year. Policies will be formulated for the teachers colleges of the states, and it is probable that contracts for buildings on various campuses may be let.

The Board of Regents is composed of nine men selected from the state as a whole. Mr. A. B. Mayhew, a lumberman from Uvalde, is now President of the Board. Mr. H. A. Paulus, an attorney from Yoakum, is Vice-President, and Mr. H. A. Turner of Austin is Secretary of the Board. Other members are Mr. J. E. Josey, publisher of the Houston Post, Houston; Mrs. J. K.

Dr. J. A. Hill has issued a cordial invitation to all citizens of Canyon to come to the special chapel program to be held Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Visiting college presidents and members of the Board of Regents will be introduced. Judge J. D. Hamlin of Farwell will speak.

City Cuts Water Rates For Trees

Additional 10% Reduction Granted For Irrigation

The City Commission voted Monday to grant an additional 10% reduction on all water contracts until further notice in order that the citizens of Canyon may irrigate their trees while the drouth continues.

"It would cost the citizens thousands of dollars to replant the trees if they were allowed to die during the drouth," stated Mayor C. R. Burrow. "We are making this reduction in order to induce all citizens to irrigate their trees sufficiently during the drouth," continued Mayor Burrow.

The new reduced rate becomes effective this month and will apply on all water used since the July meter reading.

Canyon has thousands of beautiful trees which are in danger unless they are properly irrigated at once.

The city is pumping more water than at any period in in the history of the local plant, but the wells are not materially affected. The water level has been lowered, in common with other wells over the Southwest, but there is no danger of a shortage in the supply.

The City Commission, together with civic leaders, are urging citizens to irrigate the trees in order that none may die owing to the continued drouth.

Filling Station Is Held Up Sunday By Pair Masked Men

Two unmasked men held up L. O. Russell of the Gulf station at third and the highway Sunday night about 9 o'clock.

The pair escaped with three or four dollars. The number of the car driven by the men was secured, and a slight description may lead to their arrest.

Small and McDonald Announce Support of Hunter for Governor

Senator Clint C. Small and C. C. McDonald, defeated candidates for Governor, have both announced that they will vote for Tom F. Hunter for Governor in the second primary on August 25.

Small announced Friday that Hunter was his choice, but that he expected to do no active work in the campaign. He believes Hunter will carry out his law enforcement program.

McDonald announced Monday that after consulting his supporters he found a great majority in favor of Hunter, and that he would therefore support Hunter.

Edgar Witt advised Mayor Ross Rogers of Amarillo Monday that he would support Hunter. Maury Hughes, the other defeated candidate for Governor, has so far expressed no choice in the campaign.

City Commission Approves Plan for New Gas Rate Here

Approval of the proposed change in gas rates was made Monday at the meeting of the City Commission.

Under the new proposal made by the West Texas Gas Company, the minimum of $1.50 per consumer would continue. But the rate drops to 50 cents per thousand after the first thousand. This means a considerable saving to the large consumers during the course of a year.

The new rate is optional with the gas users.

Carl Perriman of Memphis was here over Sunday visiting friends. He was elected County Attorney of Hall county in the recent primary.

TOM F. HUNTER

Tom F. Hunter, candidate for Governor of Texas, spoke yesterday at the chapel period of W. T. He announced that he was a friend of education in Texas. He confined his discussion to the educational problems of the state.

CITY PARK OFFER MADE TO THE CITY

Two Blocks Set Out In Proposal Presented Commission

OWNER ASKS $20,000

Proposal Not Considered Under the Present Conditions

The question of deciding upon city park has been taken under advisement by the City Commission after a proposal had been made to the city officials for the purchase of two city blocks. W. W. Thompson of Plattsburg, Mo., made the proposal to the commission, offering the two blocks between Third and Fourth Avenues,at 21st and 22nd Streets.

Mr. Thompson has owned this property for a number of years and states that he believes it to be the best property in Canyon for a city park. He priced the two blocks for $20,000, one-fourth cash and the balance at the rate of $1,000 per year for 15 years at 5% interest.

The commission received the proposal, but did not take action, awaiting a more favorable time for consideration. It would be necessary to submit the proposal to a vote of the people, and the

Small and McDonald Men Pledge Support to Hunter

"If there is a man in Texas who is the friend of education, it is Tom Hunter," declared Mr. Hunter yesterday in a talk at the College chapel. In spite of the short notice for the meeting a large number of citizens joined students and members of the faculty in greeting Mr. Hunter in his talk.

Mr. Hunter was on a swing thru the Panhandle, making a talk at Amarillo Tuesday night where he was greeted by the largest political gathering of the year. He was introduced by Mayor Ross Rogers, who had just returned from a trip down state where he gathered information that the forces of Senator Small, C. C. McDonald and Edgar Witt were largely supporting Mr. Hunter in the second primary.

Mr. Hunter's talk yesterday was largely along educational lines. He appreciates the school system of Texas of which he is a product. He did not start to school until he was almost 15 years of age, and had to work his way through. He was a teacher in the public schools, and greatly appreciates the problems of the schools.

"An unfair whispering campaign was started against me in many of the educational centers of Texas during the first primary, stating that I was not a friend of education," stated Mr. Hunter. He branded this as an absolute falsehood, and gave his stand for adequate support of the educational system. "The better training we

Cotton Farmers to Meet Upchurch Next Thursday, Aug. 16

Any farmer who planted cotton in 1934, reardless of whether any will be harvested, should see County Agent W. H. Upchurch on Thursday, August 16th. This day will be set aside to make out Bankhead Exemption Certificates. These certificates will be transferable or can be used next year if not needed this year.

Each grower should have his past cotton production and acreage figures ready when he comes in so that his exemption certificate can be made out without delay.

Since Randall county produces only a very small amount of cotton, there are no funds available to pay for clerical help in connection with exemption certificates.

SO WHAT!

Seed Loan Date to Expire on Aug. 15

Many Farmers Have Secured Money Planting Wheat

Unless the government grants another extension of time, wheat seed loans will close next Wednesday, August 15th. The time originally ended on July 15th, but was extended until August 15th.

Farmers who will need help in planting their wheat this fall should make application before next Wednesday to Mrs. James Cole at the Chamber of Commerce office in the court house.

Scores of Randall county farmers have made applications for loans, and are in line to receive the money for their seed.

Fire Destroys Barn and Sheds at Kuhlman Farm

A fire of unknown origin destroyed the barn and chicken house on the Kuhlman place, east of town, Saturday night.

The local fire department answered the call at 12 o'clock midnight, but was greatly hampered in being able to use only chemicals. 500 bushels of wheat stored in the barn were destroyed as well as a car and valuable machinery. Considerable loss of poultry was also incurred.

Cattle Buying Again Shut Down In Randall

7,000 Head Have Been Bought During the Campaign

Cattle buying was again stopped yesterday in Randall county until the packing plants catch up with the number of cattle on hand Before the shut down yesterday, a restriction had been placed on buying to three days per week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The buying for this week was not interferred with in this particular respect. The federal veterinarian who has been working in Randall county has been assigned to Potter county for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The office for cattle buying has been moved from the Commissioners' Court room to the County Agent's office on the first floor of the court house.

Practically 7,000 head of cattle had been bought up to last night in Randall county.

In order to facilitate buying on the days allowed, farmers are being asked to assemble their cattle by communities in order to conserve the time of the veterinarian and the local committee. This has speeded up the work considerably during the past week.

The lack of feed and grass in the county is causing the large breeders to offer bigger bunches for sale. This is responsible for the congestion in the packing centers, and has forced a slowing down in the buying program.

DOWN AUSTIN WAY

The Newsman made a trip to Austin last week with the Panhandle delegation, which sought to interest the powers that be in the affairs of the Panhandle. As a whole, the Panhandle folks came out second best in the argument; so far as Randall county was concerned, we were assured the completion of the Goodnight Trail, which was the principal objective of the county's delegation. That was about all we could expect.

In the first place, the Panhandle delegation found that the chairman of the Highway Commission considers this a rather small and unimportant section of Texas. Judge W. R. Ely, member of the Commission, is our friend, and wants to help us. The other member did not have much to say, but expressed interest in the Goodnight Trail on which the highway department has already spent a lot of money.

In the second place, we found out that the thousands of dollars spent by Panhandle citizens in meetings, delegations, telegrams and letters attempting to get drouth relief has been spent to no avail. After the Kansas City hearing between Panhandle representatives and Harry Hopkins, the Texas Relief Commission let the matter drop, and now claims that this section is more affected by the depression than by the drouth. They claim to have secured this information from their local administrators and their traveling representatives. Furthermore, the members of the relief organization are so busy fighting each other that they do not care a whoop about the people of Texas so long as they can protect their own jobs. Another delegation must return to Austin next Monday and request that the Relief Commission ask Mr. Hopkins to carry out his agreement with the drouth territory of the Panhandle, simply because the Commission has failed or refused or neglected to do its duty in making this formal request months ago. It's a fine state of affairs. Incidentally, this section of the State had a representative on the Relief Commission at that time who seems to have been more interested in holding his job than looking after the interest of the people of this section.

In the meanwhile, practically all of Texas has been added to the drouth territory. You may imagine what Hopkins will say if and when this special request goes to him; he has skillfully evaded carrying out the President's orders of last September, and now that all Texas is in the drouth territory, we may expect nothing in the way of relief.

* * * *

If it were not a distressing situation, the drouth would be rather amusing to people from the Plains as they look over the other "drouth stricken" parts of the state. Those folks don't know what a drouth is; they merely have a prolonged dry spell, as compared with the Plains where no rain has fallen during the past three years. There are many sections which raised a good feed crop; other sections have a fairly good cotton crop; while on the Plains nothing has been raised to speak of this year, and nothing can be raised until there is rain. Of course those folks are suffering, because crops are actually short, but they are merely in the same shape that the Panhandle was three years ago when the drouth started. And they are getting a lot of relief in the beginning of their drouth, whereas the Panhandle went through two years before the general relief program started.

* * * *

From a political standpoint, we were greatly interested in both the past primary election, and the one that comes on August 25th.

It is recognized that a comparatively small group of Panhandle citizens are directly responsible for the defeat of Clint C. Small. The lies which this group spread over Texas discredited him so that he was left out of the second primary. In the future, this group of men will not dare complain at the treatment accorded the Panhandle by the state administration. If there ever was a time when this section needed a friend in Austin, it is now. But to satisfy their own prejudices, this group of men did not hesitate to stoop to the lowest means of defeating the only man in the race who was their real friend.

The report of the Panhandle citizens in opposing Clint Small was not alone confirmed by the followers of the Senator, but were likewise confirmed by the followers of Hunter and McDonald at Austin.

* * * *

Who will be the next Governor of Texas?

Political campaigns are funny things.

Political leaders do funny things, and the voters may be misguided so as to vote against their own interest.

In canvassing the situation among the followers of McDonald, Small and Witt, we found one ardent worker for Small who had declared for Allred, while the rest of the workers were following Hunter. Politicians from every section of the state declare that Tom Hunter will be the next Governor. Maybe they are right; maybe they are wrong; but they have some mighty good reasons to back their argument.

The campaign of Allred was a great disappointment. Spending more money than any candidate has spent in many years, he has a lead of only 50,000, whereas he was hoping for a lead of more than 100,000. The fight of all the other candidates against him during final period of the campaign greatly reduced the lead which he thought he had. Allred received only 30% of the votes cast, while Hunter received 24%. Thus we see 46% of the votes in the primary going to the other candidates, and it is this great block which will determine the outcome of the second primary.

According to statistics, the second candidate in the race wins more often than does the leading candidate. In this instance, all candidates were calling attention to the defects of the leading candidate, and showing that Mr. Allred had not accomplished what he claimed that he had done, and was making a campaign upon a program which he knew he could not carry out.

The honesty of Tom Hunter appeals to the people. He carried his home precinct in Wichita Falls where he, Allred and McDonald live, and had a large lead in Wichita County. His home people endorse him, which carries a lot of weight in a campaign.

We talked with about 50 members of the legislature who condemn the insinuations of Allred that the legislature is controlled by the lobbyists. The Attorney General has been challenged time and again to point out one single instance where the lobbyists used illegal methods of passing legislation; but he has failed to answer the charge. The Attorney General has been asked time and again to disclose the source of his huge campaign fund, especially the $10,000 spent the last night in the state-wide radio hook-up, but he has failed to answer.

The fact that Tom Hunter is largely paying his own expenses in a modest campaign, is appealing to more people than the folks of the Panhandle realize. More and more the voters are beginning to realize that his large vote two years ago was not an accidental vote, but one based upon the real merit of the candidate.

* * * *

While at Austin we talked with Mr. Allred and told him that the people of Randall county were vitally interested in his stand on education. We recalled to him that he was twice warned before his speech here to state his position on W. T. He promised to write us a letter stating his opposition to the reduction plan of the so-called economy committee. The letter has not come, but he mailed a mimeograph statement made at Denton during the first primary.

During the first primary Mr. Hunter wired Dr. Hill his position in opposition to the so-called economy plan.

* * * *

Many people are disturbed over Mr. Hunter's platform, and call it radical. They may say the same thing about President Roosevelt's program.

The fact that Hunter has refused to get mixed up with cliques and clans, and refused to make trades is appealing to the people. His private and public honesty is very greatly in his favor. The fact that he will be able to get along with the legislature is much in his favor. He has no public record to defend which is the great handicap of all candidates.

We have backed many a losing candidate in political campaigns, and have never been ashamed of supporting a candidate just because he did not win. We are going to vote for Mr. Hunter on August 25 because we believe that he will make an honest effort to do something for the state without regard to the political effect that his actions will have upon his future political ambitions, should he have any such ambitions.

* * * *

Friends of Walter Woodul say that he will win easily from Joe Moore in the race for Lieutenant Governor. Both are members of the State Senate and are good friends of education. As a matter of fact, the Lieutenant Governor has more power in shaping and passing legislations than any other person in Austin unless it be the Speaker of the House. The office is very important, and an able man should be selected for the place.

* * * *

Walter Woodward was disappointed in his race for Attorney General. He thought he would have a great lead over McCraw, but it turned out that Smith received more votes than had been expected, and McCraw swept East Texas. A lot of folks accuse West Texas of being sectional in their political affiliation, but you cannot beat East Texas in standing by their sectional candidates. McCraw is purely an East Texas candidate, and the East Texas voters are staying with him. Look at the results and see for yourself.

* * * *

The voters have an opportunity to practically rid the state of Fergusonism in the Railroad Commissioners race. John Pundt is the Ferguson entry. Lon A. Smith is running for re-election. While we hold no brief for Smith, and hoped that he would be eliminated, yet we shall support him in the second primary. We expect to see the legislature take the oil and gas business out of the hands of the Railroad Commission and give it to a commission which knows something about this important business. The present commission is not getting the job done.

* * * *

John H. Sharp and H. S. Lattimore will enter the run-off for a place on the Supreme Court. Sharp is the abler lawyer, but Lattimore is more politically minded, and makes a more thorough campaign.

* * * *

With all of the disadvantages of the drouth, the Panhandle still looks to be the best part of Texas. We have taken it on the chin, wallop after wallop, and stood up to the punishment. Austin is the favored city of Texas with less to complain about than any place in Texas; yet we heard more crying in Austin than any place on the trip.

Panhandle folks are good sports, win, lose or draw.

Government Moves on Four Fronts to Make Americans "Home-Minded"

James A. Moffett (sketch at right), Federal Housing Administrator, gazes at one of the new low-cost PWA houses, situated in Euclid, O.

BUILD or buy a home! If you have one, repair that roofing, install that shower—get busy on those hundred and one little home improvements that you postponed during depression years! That's the appeal the government makes to Americans as it launches the fourth unit in the federal plan to improve housing conditions and stabilize the business of "owning your own home."

Three agencies benefiting home owners are already well established. HOLC—Home Owners Loan Corporation—has been refinancing mortgages for owners threatened by foreclosure. The Public Works Emergency Housing Corporation supplies low-cost houses to low-salaried people. Operating only in cities where slums and crowded conditions exist, the PWEHC buys land, builds apartments, rents them cheaply and collects the rent.

With government money, the third agency—Subsistence Homesteads Division of the Interior Department—buys land, builds homes, and provides stock and machinery for farming small plots of soil. Then it accepts from each homestead family a long time mortgage to be repaid in small monthly installments.

AND now the fourth—and greatest—unit of the federal housing scheme, swings into action. Under the new National Housing Act, no direct loans for home building or repair will be made. Instead of public funds, hoards of private money will be enlisted to make Americans home-conscious. And likewise, in place of government employes, the combatants in the war against bad housing conditions will be contractors, bankers, building and loan companies, material men and the home-owners themselves.

The way in which Uncle Sam plans to start flowing the billions of private credit now frozen is to insure holders of this credit against part of their loss. For instance, loans of $2000 or less made to overhaul homes will be guaranteed up to 20 per cent; new home mortgages will be insured up to 90 per cent of the property's appraised value.

Americans are promised the opportunity of repairing or getting clear title to their homes on easy terms; 10 months to five years to pay off repair loans at probably 5 per cent; 20 years to pay off first and only mortgages on both new and old homes at 5 or 6 per cent, plus 1 per cent a year insurance charges.

To make the housing drive a success, private capital must furnish initiative and confidence. Doing their part, lumber and other building material firms have already promised sizable price cuts. Railroads are expected to cut rates on transportation of building materials. Building trade workers, many still jobless, may accept lower hourly wage scales. And the promise of this great amount of business offered by Uncle Sam may bring other helpful concessions.

Normally, America spends $11,000,000,000 a year in construction. Now we're spending only $3,000,000,000, and we're five years behind in normal building. There's an estimated $20,000,000,000 of building and repair work to be done. Stagnation of the building industry has kept nearly 10,000,000 people out of work. Nearly half of the nation's homes need repair of some sort; and 800,000 new homes are required to meet the shortage.

IT will be up to Administrator James A. Moffett to kill all these birds with one stone—the National Housing Act. This energetic, 48-year old supersalesman, acquainted with bankers and financial leaders in all parts of the nation, was picked by President Roosevelt as the ideal man to "sell" these leaders on the idea of loosening private purse strings. That he is heart and soul in the New Deal and his new work was demonstrated sometime ago when he gave up a $100,000 Standard Oil job to offer his services to the president.

A native of West Virginia, Moffett foresees re-employment of at least 5,000,000 men when the wheels of his administration get under way.

Cards Find That Dizziness Is Good Business . . . "Big Train" to Continue on Run . . . Fonseca Turns Moompicture Man

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THEY call them the "Dizzy Deans," but if the truth be told, the batters who oppose this formidable St. Louis Cardinal pitching duo are the ones who get the dizzy spells.

Practically half the victories won by the Cards so far this year can be credited to the doughty Deans. And they deserve an extra pat on the back because other Card hurlers didn't round into real form until just recently, the Deans bearing the real burden during the first half of the season.

If the Cards cop the National League pennant, they must dish out a good slice of the credit to Paul and Jerome H. Dean. Not that the pair need any praise. Anything they require along that line, they always found it possible to supply themselves.

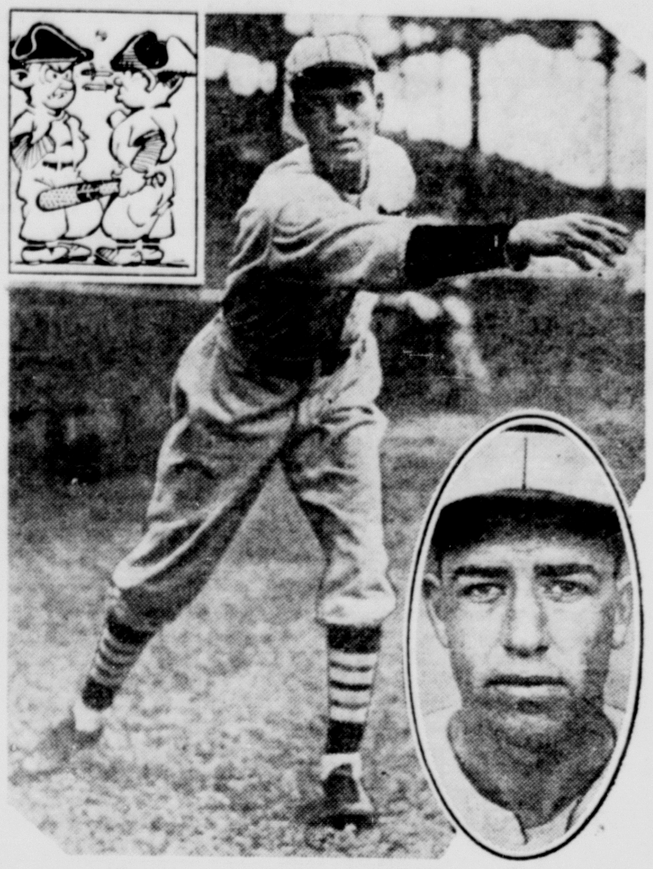
NEITHER of the Dean youngsters lacks ego. Back in Houston in the days when the elder brother, Jerome, was being shuttled back and 'orth betweeen Houston and St. Louis, he had a habit that was very aggravating to any team he was scheduled to face.

He would call up the manager of that team and loftily inform the gentleman that if he, Jerome Dean, felt charitable the day of the game, he might possibly let the other team have three hits. And then "Dizzy" would proceed to carry out his promise. Conceited or not, he had the stuff; and the Cards had to take him on as a regular.

Meanwhile, Paul, the kid brother, was building himself a swell rep with the Columbus, O., Red Birds. Last year, for instance, he chalked up 20 wins for said club.

This spring the kid appeared at the St. Louis training camp and has been going great guns since.

Between the pair there is a standing argument as to which is "The Great Dean." But as far as St. Louis and the rest of the team is concerned, they're both great.



Jerome H. Dean, left, insists he is "The Great Dean." Paul, inset, his kid brother, says he is. But St. Louis fans believe that both hurlers are great. And so do the rest of the Cardinals.

THE "Big Train" will run on major league schedule for another year at least. Awarding of a new contract as Cleveland Indian manager to Walter Johnson came as a distinct surprise to the Cleveland baseball populace—and to Walter, himself, it is said.

The reason for the surprise was that the news popped up just after a wave of anti-Johnson sentiment, caused by questionable judgment in handling pitchers, broke in a tempest of fan squawks.

THE American League has made Lew Fonseca, former White Sox manager, a sort of baseball public relations counsel. With motion pictures and lectures, Lew will travel throughout the hinterlands, familiarizing young and old with the intricacies of the grand old game.

This campaign is expected, in a few years, to pay dividends in the form of increased diamond attendance and a finer crop of minor leaguers for the majors to choose from.

Tri-State Fair Slogan For 1934 "Bigger and Better"

With more feature attractions, including daily horse races, and larger premiums than ever, all guaranteed, the Tri-State Fair this year, September 15-22, easily will measure up to the old slogan—"bigger and better."

Preparations have been made for record crowds to pass through the free gate each of the seven days.

Besides horse racing with legalized wagering, there will be the Sam B. Dill circus with Tom Mix, the Western State Shows, a carnival company with sensational rides and other feature attractions.

The Tri-State Fair is just completing a $30,000 building program to accomodate the 1934 crowds.

Back under the old managebent of Wilbur C. Hawk as president and O. L. "Ted" Taylor as secretary-manager, the Tri-State Fair this year is guaranteeing more than $15,000 in cash premiums.

Catalogues containing all the premium list, rules and regulations, are available now. A catalogue will be mailed upon written request to Mr. Taylor, P. O. Box 2454, Amarillo.

Several new departments will be added this year. For instance, $5,000 in cash prizes will be offered exclusively for Hereford cattle. There also will be exhibits of milking Shorthorns, Jersey and Holstein.

Cash prizes in all of the other departments are equally liberal.

This year for the first time there will be no competitive system of judging county exhibits. Instead, each county that enters an exhibit will be paid $50.00 in cash.

Advance inquiries already indicate each of the exhibit buildings will be jammed with displays.

The automobile building will house the latest models for a motor show throughout the fair.

"The Tri-State Fair weathered a depression and this year's drouth will have no effect either upon the quality of exhibits or the attendance," declared Mr. Hawk.

"So, don't forget the dates," he added. "The 1934 greater Tri-State Fair begins on Saturday, September 15, and ends on the following Saturday, September 22."

Hunter Chides Allred on Conversion Against Gambling

Tom F. Hunter, candidate for governor, during a brief stop in Tulia yesterday, made a sharp retort to the announcement of his opponent, James V. Allred, attorney general, that the race track gambling law should be repealed.

"Chances are that with a little more pressure, Jimmy will have some of the 17,000 saloons in Texas closed," Hunter said.

"Death bed religion is about the poorest religion anyone can have," he continued. "Jimmy waits until the full count is made and nearly a million referees are standing ready to count him out, then crawls to the bench and asks for prayers.

"Through the entire first primary and for more than three years as attorney general, during which time he was charged with enforcement of the gambling laws, he has permitted wide-open gambling houses, and has waited until the horses are in the home stretch to announce that he is against gambling in any form.

"His tactics are like those of a Texas constable who ran a story in the newspapers that commencing next Friday he was going to arrest all bootleggers."

Looks Like White Sox Are in for a Good Darning . . . New York Boxing Commission Provides Two Good Scraps

BY PHILIP MARTIN

YOU can take Jimmy Dykes' word for it that all but about six of the current crop of Chicago White Sox will display their baseball wares elsewhere during the 1935 campaign.

Highly touted as a possible dark horse in this year's pennant chase the White Sox have done nothing except steal the title of league doormat away from the St. Louis Browns.

Dykes states he will string along with his present infield which consists of himself at the hot corner, Appling and Hayes, short and second respectively, and that clouting giant, Zeke Bonura, on the initial sack. A pretty fair sort of inner works, if anyone should ask you.

It is also rumored about that Jimmy will place Al Simmons on the auction block. All bids received, however, must include a goodly share of youthful baseball talent.

Under a new policy, heartily approved by Dykes, the Sox will try to develop their own talent. No more fancy prices for minor league stars who flicker out after their transfer to big time.

As a result, Jimmy will have to play a David Harem role if he expects to have a team of proper caliber on the field next April.

THE New York Boxing Commission fathers, who pose as the foremost authorities on things fistic, have decreed that Vince Dundee, middleweight title holder, must meet Teddy Yarosz, of Monaca, Pa., in defense of his crown, before Aug. 12. Otherwise, the title will be declared vacant.

Since becoming champ by winning over Lou Brouillard, Dundee has fought only once. Yarosz beat Brouillard twice—so there's little wonder Dundee has shied clear of the meeting.

ANOTHER nice little scrap on the bill of fight fare is that approved by the New York commission between Baby Arizmendi, of Mexico and California, and Mike Belloise, Gotham featherweight.

The commission has declared Freddie Miller's featherweight throne vacant due to non-defense of title within its specified time, and will seat the winner of the Arizmendi-Belloise brawl in the chair.

This bout should see the descendant of the Aztecs ruling the division. Arizmendi has been coming along fast the last couple of years, and his shifty stance and punch figure to be a bit too much for little Mike.

Law Balks Twin's Plan to Wed

Fellowship Subject of Quattlebaum at Rotary Luncheon

Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum discussed the subject of Fellowship Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon. He was introduced by G. G. Foster, chairman of the Fellowship Committee.

Joe Hill announced that he hoped to have a large number of citizens of Canyon at the chapel period Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock when visiting teachers college Presidents and members of the Board of Regents would be present.

"Fellowship is experienced more than talked about," stated Mr. Quattlebaum. "It is a type of experience enjoyed through congenial associations." The speaker discussed the advantages of fellowship in Rotary in that it goes beyond the usual field of the individual members. Men of every profession meet and learn to know and appreciate each other. Rotary is the gymnasium in which the gifts of the various members are exercised.

"It is almost impossible to hate a man if you really know him," stated the speaker. "You love him because of what he could become." Great universal fellowship is possible through the agency of Rotary, rather than through other agencies. In Rotary race, creeds, denominations, are forgotten and real fellowship exists.

Visitors present were: L. A. Wells, R. A. Ford, N. S. Griggs, Arthur Osgood, Jess Rogers, O. W. Wright, Horace M. Russell, all of Amarillo; J. L. Naylor of Panhandle; J. W. Dillard of Alanreed; Harley Sadler of Sweetwater.

County Convention Held; Named Delegates to Convention

Only a few delegates from the precincts of Randall county showed up Saturday for the Democratic County Convention. Business was dispatched on the court house lawn so that County Chairman A. M. Smith could attend while seated in his car.

Mr. Smith was elected chairman and Clyde Warwick secretary of the meeting.

The only resolution presented came from Edgewood asking the party to strengthen the primary so as to make a white man's primary.

The county will have four votes in the State Convention to be held at Galveston in September, but named ten delegates as follows: C. R. Burrow, Joe Dooley, L. M. Fischer, Clyde Warwick, A. M. Smith, J. W. Reid, Perry Powell, W. C. Black, W. J. Flesher, and R. A. Bellah.

Davis Hill was named delegate to the 18th Congressional District convention.

Joe Dooley was named delegate to the 47th Judicial District convention.

C. H. Jarrett was named delegate to the 123rd Representative district convention.

L. M. Fischer was named delegate to the 7th Supreme Judicial District convention.

The county executive committee canvassed the vote cast in the July 28th primary and found the totals to be practically the same as published in the News last week.

In the second primary to be held on August 25th, there will be a run-off in five state races, one district and one county. However, the interest in the Governor's race is expected to bring out a large vote, probably as large as the one in July.

Planting of Canada-to-Texas Forest Belt Proposed to Save U. S. Farmlands

AN immense tree-planting project that will aid in stemming future drouths and dust storms, is being studied carefully in Washington. About 1946, or so, if the plan goes through, a 1300-mile, unbroken belt of trees will stretch from Canada to the Texas Panhandle.

The belt will be 100 miles wide, passing through the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma. It will not be solidly wooded. First there'll be a strip of trees 100 feet wide, then a broader strip of farmland; another strip of trees, more farmland, and so on, throughout the 100 miles of its width.

Here are some of the things this $75,000,000 project is expected to accomplish:

Add vastly to the fertility of farmlands between the Rockies and the Mississippi. Assure adequate rains for the great mid-western farm states. Lessen the danger of future drouths, and of dust storms similar to those which this year robbed many farmers of their rich topsoil. And, incidentally, create jobs for thousands of men in drouth-stricken areas.

CCC workers may be enlisted to help farmers get the immense task under way. Something like 200,000,000 fence posts will be needed to keep cattle and sheep from foraging in the "shelter belt." The actual work of preparing the soil, planting the trees, and building the fences is to be done largely by nearby farmers. Land needed is to be purchased or leased by the government.

Approximately 180,000 acres of cottonwood, green ash, and other suitable trees will be planted each year during the 10 or 12 years needed to complete the project. Six, maybe more, great nurseries will be established to grow the vast quantities of seeds and seedlings required.

It is claimed that inhabitants of the planet Mars, if there are any, would be able to see the "shelter belt," which gives some conception of its size. The idea is not strictly original, Russians having tried it on their prairies some 70 years ago.

Somewhat similar plantings in France, more than a century ago, are said to have redeemed a vast sand area and made it into an extremely valuable pine forest.

Map shows tentative location of the proposed wooded "shelter belt," which will extend 1300 miles from the Canadian border to northern Texas. The picture below, showing a barn nearly engulfed by topsoil blown in dust storms from neighboring farms illustrates one evil the "belt" will try to eliminate. Above, left, is F. A. Silcox, chief forester of the U. S. Forest Service, which is expected to handle the project.

Museum Now Displaying New Indian Relics

Silver Work Shows Particular Artistry of Design

A small part of the collection of Indian materials presented to the museum recently by Miss Susan J. Allen, of Haverford, Pa., is now on display.

The articles shown are excellent examples of the highest type of silver and bead work done by the Indians.

There are several bracelets, some plain and others set with native turquoise. One bracelet has a very large stone, another is plain with religious symbols for design, and another has five small turquoise sets.

The rings are also both plain and set with stones. The most interesting ring is in the shape of a large butterfly. This ring gives evidence of a great deal of work, for the wings are made of silver intricately designed, and the body of the butterfly is a large turquoise.

A butterfly pin of silver shows even the antennae of the insect, and the silver conchas give many other fascinating designs.

The necklaces are also beautifully made. They are made of round silver beads with crescents as center pieces. Two of them have squash blossoms made of silver set between the round beads.

There are silver spoons, blanket pins, and a very old water cross among the collection.

Two very unusual bone articles are the two cravat holders carved in the shape of butterflys. One is painted blue, while the wings of the other are set with five small turquoise. A bone carved to represent a calf's head on one side and the head of a wolf on the other, also makes an interesting cravat holder.

The bead work shows countless hours of effort and surprising originality of design on the part of the Indians. There is a beaded feather fan, an Apache beaded ball, strings of wampum, beaded bands, and Apache bags beaded in black, white, yellow, red, blue, green, and gray. Even a turtle is given a beaded shell.

Another object of outstanding interest is a tomahawk carved to represent a sheep's head. The handle is beaded and a long tuft of horse hair hangs from the end.

Another type of carving is shown in a pipe made of pipe stone, with the bowl carved as a horse's head. One pipe, called a "squaw pipe," has a stone bowl and a wood stem wrapped with braided quills.

In the same case are two Pomo baskets. One is full feathered with wild duck and meadow lark feathers forming the design; the other has tufts of red woodpecker's feathers woven in with the straw.

A few baskets of the collection also are on display in another case. Among them are Modoc berry baskets, an Apache marriage basket, plaques, a Mission Indian baby basket, a Hupa cooking bowl, and a Klamath gambling plaque.

Deers, butterflies, sacred bugs, dogs, men, and women are worked into the patterns of many of the baskets. Others have flower designs such as sunflowers and large six-pedal flowers worked in white on a black background.

Of special interest is a Hupa squaw cap woven of straw and shaped to fit the head. Only a few of the baskets are on display now, but the remainder of the collection of two hundred baskets and bowls will be exhibited as soon as possible.

"(b) All duties heretofore performed by the Clerk of the District Court and the County Clerk shall hereafter be performed by an officer to be known as Record Clerk; all duties heretofore performed by the County Tax Assessor and the County Tax Collector shall hereafter be performed by one officer known as Tax Clerk; and in the counties where the sheriff performs the duties of the Tax Collector he may hereafter perform the duties of the Tax Clerk. The Record Clerk and the Tax Clerk shall be elected to hold office for a term of two (2) years and until their successors shall be elected and qualified. The Commissioners' Court shall have authority to combine the office of County Treasurer and the office of County Surveyor, or to combine either, or both, of said offices with any county office. Within the maximum and minimum limits prescribed by the Legislature the Commissioners' Court shall have authority to fix the compensation of all county and precinct officers except County Auditor, County Judge and County Commissioners. The Commissioners' Court shall fix the compensation of and determine the number of deputies and assistants and clerical personnel of all precinct officers and county officers except the county auditor.

"(c) City and county officers and employees may, in addition to their duties as such city and county officers or employees, be required to perform such other similar duties for cities, towns and districts within the county, or for the county, as may be mutually agreed upon and contracted for between the Commissioners' Court of said county and the governing board, or boards, of such cities, towns and districts; and the cost of such service shall be provided for in said contracts and paid by such county, cities, towns or districts into the Treasury of the county or city, town or district, as provided for in said contract. All such contracts shall be approved by the Attorney General of this State and such contracts shall not cover a period longer than two (2) years.

"(d) The Legislature shall have authority, by general law, to provide for complete forms of county government and organizations different from that provided for in this Constitution to become effective in any county when submitted in such manner as may be prescribed by the Legislature to the qualified voters of such county in an election held for such purpose and approved by a majority of the qualified voters voting in said election. Provided, however, that no such law shall impair the power of the Commissioners' Court to determine the compensation of county and precinct officers other than the County Auditor, to fix the number of assistants, deputies, and clerical personnel which said officers may employ; nor shall such general law change the present constitutional limitations as to particular and total tax levies for any or all county purposes; nor shall such general law change the present constitutional limitations on counties to incur public debts.

"(e) In any and all cases where provisions of the Constitution of this State are in conflict with the provisions of this Amendment, the provision of this Amendment (Section 2-A, Article IX) shall control; provided, however, should any county adopt a Home Rule Charter under authority of any provisions of the State Constitution or Amendment thereto, this Amendment shall not be aplicable to such county."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the electors of this State, qualified to vote on Constitutional Amendments, at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November A. D., 1934, at which election each ballot shall have printed thereon the words:

"Against the Amendment of Article IX of the State Constitution by adding Section 2-A thereto, giving the Commissioners' Court general management and control of county affairs, and authorizing the Legislature to provide more economical forms of county government and different than as now provided by law."

Police and Gangster Victims Litter Dillinger Trail of Terror

WHEN federal bullets thudded into the body of John Dillinger, ending his short, meteoric career as America's Public Enemy No. 1, organized society paused to reckon up its account with the ace outlaw.

Offhand, it would seem that the Dillinger mob scored heavier in the brief feud. Seven law officers died violently, while only five of the gang were slain.

Sheriff Jesse Sarber of Lima, O., was killed by gunmen as they liberated Dillinger from jail to repay a similar favor. Detective Sergeant William Shanley was ruthlessly slain in a Chicago garage when he unexpectedly came upon Dillinger gangsters. State Policeman Eugene Teague met his death in Paris, Ill., at the hands of one of the gangsters freed by Dillinger from Indiana state prison.

Patrolman Patrick O'Malley fell, bullet-riddled, when he courageously tried to stop the gang from holding up East Chicago's First National Bank. W. Carter Baum, federal agent, was killed when Dillinger slipped through a police ambush near Mercer, Wis. Undersheriff Charles Cavanaugh died in Port Huron, Mich., in a battle with Herbert Youngblood, Dillinger escape companion; and Policeman Harold Wagner was shot to death by a gang believed to have included Dillinger and four comrades after robbery of a bank at South Bend, Ind.

ON the other side of the ledger, the forces of law and order could place the extermination of Dillinger, and four of his associates: Eugene Green, Youngblood, Tommy Carroll, and Jack Klutas.

Green was fatally wounded in St. Paul when Dillinger shot his way to freedom; Youngblood was killed in a battle with police at Port Huron, Mich.; Carroll suffered a similar fate at Waterloo, Ia., and Klutas, gang leader thought to have been affiliated with Dillinger, died similarly in a Chicago suburb.

Three ex-convicts, slain in a Chicago apartment by police seeking the kingpin desperado, and a CCC worker killed accidentally during a raid at Spider Lake, Wis., sum up the victims of the Dillinger reign of terror.

Death by hot lead—the fate of many of his gang—was the lot of John Dillinger, inset, notorious desperado. He is shown below, on a morgue slab, after he had been trapped and slain by federal men.

IN actual money, it has cost Uncle Sam an estimated $100,000, perhaps more, to track down the notorious outlaw. Approximately 100 federal agents devoted most of their time to the pursuit since his escape from the Crown Point, Ind., jail four and a half months ago.

At various times hundreds more of these agents were busy in various parts of the country chasing "tips."

But despite the tremendous cost, Uncle Sam considers the erasing of Dillinger a distinct triumph. It marked another great advance in the offensive against organized crime. It soothed the self-respect and restored the confidence of law officers which had been undermined by months of public ridicule at their inability to nab the audacious gunman.

And it provided for prospective criminals another object lesson that crime never pays.

News in Canyon 25 Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Randall County News of August 6, 1909)

"Last Tuesday afternoon Wesley Kleinschmidt, a fifteen year old boy of this city, in filling the tank of a blow torch with gasoline, spilled some of the gasoline on his trousers. Before it had evaporated he attempted to light the torch and immediately the whole lower portion of his clothing was a mass of flames. * * * This occurred in the garage of Kelser Bros. & Phillips. Guy Hoover, who has charge of the garage, hearing the outcry from young Kleinschmidt and his associates, ran into the room and grabbing a convenient laprobe, smothered the flames. The young lad was badly burned about the lower limbs and one of his hands, the skin coming off from one of the limbs when the burned clothing was removed."

The name of Nina was changed to Ralph, and a postoffice authorized by the postoffice department. Harry C. Robertson was named postmaster.

County Attornew W. D. Scott had the honor of making the first speech in the new court house.

Baggett Attends Coaching School Held at Lubbock

Coach Al Baggett spent Sunday at home from the Coaching School which he has been attending at Lubbock during the last week. He reported that an attendance of three hundred and fifty coaches was present from several states.

The fact that "they're always there on time for the lectures and demonstrations should prove the popularity of Fritz Crisler of Princeton and Noble Kizer of Michigan.

This week will see Coaches Kipke and Newman in charge of the lectures. Newman is famous for his punting and passing demonstration, and Kipke features the line play and punt formation. Coach Al has invited all the football boys down to Lubbock Wednesday as he says they will all be admitted free to the school that day. Numbers are planning to attend.

Baggett expects to be present at the Coaching School at San Antonio the following week where "Doc" Spears from Wisconsin will be in charge.

END SUMMER ENGINE TROUBLE with Phillips COOLER POWER

IF the motor in your car over-heats and knocks . . . if sluggish power and low gasoline mileage are wasting your money . . . Phill-up with Phillips.

This simple slogan is the answer to summer engine trouble, because Phillips 66 is the gasoline which is made differently for the different seasons of the year. Made to insure cooler power in hot months and faster starting in cold months. Made to give more pep and more miles per gallon every day from January through December.

Remember this when your engine "acts up" in hot August weather. Switch to Phillips 66. You get a cooler, more powerful, more responsive motor . . . without paying a penny more . . . when you get gas at the Orange and Black 66 shield.

Occasional News Radioed From Little America

News - Pamphlet Helps To Bring Information Here

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill are being aided greatly in keeping up with the activities of the Byrd Expedition at Little America through a pamphlet-newspaper edited by August Horovitz at New York City. Detailed newspaper write-ups including a kind of personal column called "Just Ch-Ch-Chatter" are delivered through the courtesies of the Mackay Radio.

The issue of July 28th carried an account of some of the plans that are to be started on the ice as soon as daylight permits. Joe Hill, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Hill, has been detailed with two other Eagle Scouts to do biological work at Little America as their part of the summer activities. A recent radiogram from Joe stated that he is at present continuing his winter night work on the tractors and indulging in drawing during his spare minutes. He has evidently been receiving all the communications sent to him regularly from family and friends.

A novel program was presented last Wednesday night over the weekly broadcast in which the men at Little America heard sounds that they had previously requested. Joe Hill, Von der Wall, and a third member of the party asked to hear about something to eat besides seal meat and pemmican, in response to which a brief sketch went over the air from New York to them featuring the ordering of a monstrous dinner.

George Bishop, college student from W. T. and one of Joe's classmates of long standing, is making a trip to Boston the last of this month, at which time arrangements will be made for him to speak to Joe over the radio at the regular broadcast hour. This will be the first instance of Joe's hearing a familiar Texas voice since he left the United States last November.

provide for the children of the state, the better citizens they become" stated the speaker. "Texas now stands too low in the matter of education. It is the obligation of the government to provide training through the grades, the high school and then offer proper aid in the institutions of higher learning," stated Mr. Hunter, "and I am a friend of the entire educational system."

The elimination of the middle class under our present economic system was greatly deplored by the speaker. In years past the schools have taught the boys and girls that education meant economic gains. This has been wiped out under present conditions. There is no use to teach this doctrine unless the door of opportunity is kept open for better things. To undo the things which have closed the door of opportunity, we must solve the problem of monopolies, trusts and chain stores, and restore individual initiative.

Mr. Hunter recalled that six years ago he saw the impending dangers, and called a mass meeting at Wichita Falls. He warned business men that the greatest crisis in history was at hand. He sacrificed his property in order to secure funds to perfect a program of recovery. He has devoted his time to public work, appealing to the legislature, and two years ago offering for Governor, in which race he ran a strong third. "I have no idea of staying in public life after serving as Governor but am offering for this office in order to lead the people back to recovery," stated the speaker.

As teachers and prospective teachers, Mr. Hunter plead that those in his audience be loyal to their home institutions. The local business firms maintain and support the schools, churches and local government. Local citizens should stay with them, rather than trade with the chain stores who contribute nothing to the local support.

In closing, Mr. Hunter repeated his stand on education, "The school system of Texas will find in Tom Hunter a friend."

Local leaders of both the Clint Small and C. C. McDonald organizations were present, and after the meeting pledged their support to carry Randall County for Mr. Hunter.

The Council of Teachers College Presidents will also hold its meeting here, beginning Thursday and meeting with the Board of Regents Friday and Saturday. The council will discuss problems of the teachers colleges and formulate policies to be presented to the Board of Regents.

Dr. C. E. Evans, President of Southwest Texas State Teachers College, San Marcos, is President of the Council, and Dr. J. A. Hill is Secretary. Other college presidents who are expected to be here are Dr. H. F. Estill, Sam Houston State Teachers College, Huntsville, who has been president of a teachers college longer than any other man; Dr. S. H. Whitley, East Texas State Teachers College, Commerce; Dr. H. W. Morelock, Sul Ross State Teachers College, Alpine; Dr. A. W. Birdwell, Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College, Nacogdoches; and Dr. W. J. McConnell, North Texas State Teachers College, Denton, who is the youngest of the college presidents in point of service.

After the business meetings have been held, the visitors will be taken through the Palo Duro Park and to visit the archaeological ruins now being studied by Mr. Floyd Studer of Amarillo. Many of these visitors have never been on the W. T. campus and know little about the Panhandle and its development.

They will also visit the museum, where the Board of Regents will meet with the Board of Directors of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

The Board of Regents, the Council of Teachers College Presidents, and the Board of Directors of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society will all be introduced in chapel Saturday morning. Dr. Hill urges that the entire student body attend, as the program will be both entertaining and educational.

wrong impression as to the powers of a Congressman in the selection of a postmaster," stated Mr. Jones. "In the first place, we are strictly confined to the three having the highest grades. Postmaster General Farley has ruled that the Congressman cannot do otherwise than accept the findings of the Civil Service Commission, which has adequate means of ascertaining the ability and standing of the applicants. Three years of actual business experience is absolutely necessary before the applicant may be considered. The commission has several thousand sets of papers yet to examine, and is months behind with its work. This is the cause of the delay in making an appointment to the local office," stated Mr. Jones.

When Mr. Jones makes the final selection, the appointment will be as acting postmaster until congress meets. After the senate confirms the appointment, a commission will be issued for a term of four years.

Attorney General to Pass Upon Voters South Amarillo

A question from Randall county has been presented to the Attorney General as to the proper procedure of citizens who have paid their poll tax in Potter county but who moved to Randall county more than six months ago. In the past, election judges have ruled that they need not register with the Randall county tax collector. The question was raised this year as to whether or not these citizens could vote in Randall county without registration, and the election judges ruled that about a dozen were not entitled to vote in the July election.

Since Randall county does not have a population of 10,000 it was taken for granted in the past that no registration was necessary. But in this instance these citizens are still within the boundary of Amarillo, with a population of 43,000, although they have moved from Potter to Randall county.
